ABOUT

I'm a junior web developer living in Minneapolis with over a decade of experience in business management and customer service. For the past 15 years I have been working on team building, problem solving, and streamlining business operations in retail environments. I am attending the Full Stack Coding Bootcamp at the University of Minnesota, to be completed December 2020.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

U-Haul Company, Minneapolis Area – General Manager

FEBRUARY 2007 – PRESENT

I have managed several U-Haul self storage and truck share retail facilities around Minnesota throughout the years. As a general manager, I am responsible for all aspects of the business and am required to increase revenue and profitability year-over-year.

I have also held the position of Area Field Manager, which is responsible for managing and growing a network of 20-30 U-Haul partner locations within a given territory. This position demands strong business relations, networking skills, and extensive market research.
